Eliza Rubenstein
GUEST CONDUCTOR

Eliza Rubenstein has served as the Artistic Director of the award-winning Orange County Women's Chorus since January 2000, and as the Director of Choral and Vocal Activities at Orange Coast College since 2009; she's also the former Artistic Director of the Long Beach Chorale and Chamber Orchestra. Born into a musical family in Missouri, Eliza told her parents when she was four that she wanted to take violin lessons so that she could "play on street corners for money" when she grew up. Though that particular career path was diverted, she studied choral conducting and English literature at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music before moving to California to earn her master's degree at UC-Irvine. Choruses under her direction have performed throughout the United States and the United Kingdom, and she made her Carnegie Hall debut in June 2017, conducting the Carnegie premiere of Kirke Mechem's choral-orchestral cantata Songs of the Slave. She has conducted four more major performances at Carnegie Hall since then.

Eliza is a former animal-shelter supervisor and an avid dog trainer and dog-sports competitor whose second book about dog adoption and animal sheltering will be published in late 2026. Her family includes her partner, Julie, and five dogs. When not making music, Eliza is passionate about photography, grammar, vegan food, the St. Louis Cardinals, and the St. Louis Blues.
